

Anxieties of Democracy

Call for Participants: Seminar on 'Crises of Democracy'

The Social Science Research Council's Anxieties of Democracy program invites applications from local doctoral students in the social sciences to participate in a 2-part seminar on current 'anxieties of democracy,' led by the Council's 2016 Democracy Fellow, Professor Charles Taylor, Emeritus Professor, McGill University.

Professor Taylor's seminar will center on the theme of 'Crises of Democracy.' Drawing on foundational texts in democratic theory, the seminar will consider how these might, or might not, help us to interpret current 'anxieties of democracy.'

When: Tuesday, October 18 and Thursday, October 20

Where: Social Science Research Council, Brooklyn, NY

To apply for this seminar, please submit a single PDF document containing your CV and a one-page description of the relevance of the seminar's themes to your research interests. Submissions should be made to democracy@ssrc.org, with the subject line 'SSRCdemocracy Taylor Seminar Application.'

Application Deadline: Monday, September 19, at 5PM

For more information about Professor Taylor's residency and the SSRC's Anxieties of Democracy program, please visit our website (www.ssrc.org/programs/anxieties-of-democracy) and follow @SSRCdemocracy on Twitter and Facebook.

SSRC

One Pierrepont Plaza, 15th Floor | Brooklyn, NY 11201
Tel: 212-377-2700 | Fax: 212-377-2727 | www.ssrc.org